

Jennifer Oteng

Jennifer Oteng, RN, BScN, MN, GNC(C), NCA, is a dedicated healthcare professional with over 18 years of nursing experience. She earned her undergraduate nursing degree from McMaster University and holds a Collaborative Master's Degree in Nursing and Aging from the University of Toronto.

With expertise in long-term care, general medicine, and complex continuing care, Jennifer currently serves as a Geriatric Outreach Nurse within the Central West Local Health Integrated Network (LHIN). In this role, she leads an inter-professional team to provide comprehensive geriatric assessments for frail seniors in the community. She also completed her Nurse Continence Advisor (NCA) certification in 2017 and supports regional continence clinics, advocating for improved continence care in the senior population.

In addition to her clinical work, Jennifer teaches both clinical and theory nursing courses at the college level, sharing her expertise and passion for senior care. Her professional interests include continence promotion, elder abuse prevention, transitions to long-term and retirement care, and end-of-life care. Jennifer is committed to ensuring that seniors receive the care, dignity, and advocacy they deserve.
