

Dr. Olumide (Emmanuel) Adegunna

Dr. Olumide (Emmanuel) Adegunna is a fourth-year Neurology resident at the University of Toronto. He holds a Master's degree in Neuroscience from Dalhousie University and is passionate about translating complex neurological concepts into accessible, community-focused education.

With clinical experience across 3 continents, his interests include stroke, brain health equity and cognitive ageing. He is committed to fostering understanding and empowerment through education and collaborative care.