

Ngozi Iroanyah

Ngozi Iroanyah is the Director of Health Equity and Access at Alzheimer Society of Ontario and a Phd candidate at York University where her work centres policies, strategies and programs for racially and culturally diverse seniors, their caregivers, and communities who live with dementia. Her aim is to increase visibility of barriers, better access to care and stronger health outcomes.